PERFORMANCE A SUCCESS

De La Geneste-Neller Company Play
Before Large Audiences.

True to the schedule announced last week in these columns the De La Geneste-Neller Mystery Co., appeared in our city on Monday morning, bedecked in broadcloth and high hats, and the ladies of the company in pleasing costumes of evident Parisian make.

Immediately upon their arrival the very atmosphere bespoke mystery and the faces of our town youths blanched when they met the penetrating eye of Prof. De La Geneste, who immediately placed a young subject in hypnotic slumbers in Lutgens' display window on Napa street. Skeptics and believers vied with each other to gain an advanaccountable manner to read one's thoughts whither in writing or held in memory's vaults.

Silanda, the electric king, demonstrated his ability in handling chained lightning much like a fire eater. He also proved himself an acrobat, performing many difficult stunts on a slack wire.

Altogether, the show from start to finish was well worth the price of admission.

Federation Receptions

The afternoon receptions held during Portola week at the Hotel St. Francis by the State Federation were a delightful realization of all that could be anticipated for the event. Every afternoon found the Red Rooms crowded with club women, not only geous point to view the sleeping lad and each forming his own opinion. The latter exclaiming "Wonderful" and the former walking away with a wise smile and voicing his disbelief as "Fake," etc. However, the evening found a large crowd bound for Union Hall and the skeptics tagging along quietly in the rear, wearing his skeptic smile, which, when the evening's demonstrations progressed, his countenance bespoke wonder and finally he appeared as one in the presence of the deity, bowing humbly to the powerful evidence presented by Prof. Geneste, who took our own well known town boys and hypnotized them easily, making them go through several stunts that brought forth roars of laughter from the audience.

Prof. Ellar, the magician, of lightning rapidity, was not eclipsed by the previous professor's wonderful ability, and in his scenes of mystery proved himself an adept student of Harman, the wizard. His interpretation of Ching Lung Soo, the great Chinese conjuror, was perfect and though placed in impossible positions, securely tied, both hands and feet, the matter of a few seconds found him free from his fetters and performing many tricks, taking only the same amount of time to place himself again in the proper position, with cords still cutting the flesh.

Madam Neller, psychic reader, proved herself a lady of deep and far penetration of thought—proved herself perfectly able to read the past, present and future without resorting to palmistry or other apparent means of linking the threads of life together. She read with ease the questions written and gave their answers, which proved to be correct in each instance. She told of distant relatives and their whereabouts and told a lovelorn swain the wedding he hoped for in the near future would be a thing of a long time hence, winding up with the remark that the youth was a fickle young man. She certainly has the ability in some un-from all parts of California, but from many other states. The occasion furnished an opportunity to meet women of common interests, to exchange ideas, and also a pleasant place for an hour's rest from the other Portola festivities. Mrs. Hume was the charming hostess of each occasion, assisted by a large committee tion various clubs. Some of our best musical artists furnished vocal solos; and punch was served by way of refreshment. Altogether these receptions were considered to be among the most successful features of the recent festival, and perhaps their greatest value was the proof of the interest, harmony, and sincerity of this large body of women or ganized in the aim of society development.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1909

Is it not a fact the world over that the extent and skill of a firm's advertisement is taken as an indication of importance? None but the best, largest and most successful firms advertise intelligently and continuously. Others may make a show, spasmodically, but their intermittent efforts lose them the benefit to be gained by unceasing effort in any pursuit. As well might a man expect to accomplish success in business by striking out with all his force in unsympathetic efforts for a day or two, and then loafing for an equal time, as to achieve the best results from advertising shifflously or intermittently. If you think it pays to advertise at all, set aside some fixed sum or per cent. for this especial purpose, select carefully the mediums to be used, then write your advertisement skillfully and truthfully, and have them printed continuously, with frequent change, and if you have anything that anybody wants you cannot fail to secure satisfactory results.

A local firm, advertising in this paper for many years decided, so we think, to test the ability of the EXPOSITOR to get returns for him recently. He allowed us just one day to reach the public with his announcement before the sale began. Did we make good? Ask him. The first day of the sale we noticed a bevy of ladies in the store and a score of clerks busily doing up packages. Throughout the entire week of the sale all hands were busy in this store filling the wants of its patrons, thoroughly proving the EXPOSITOR's ability to reach the public's ear in a most convincing manner.

OIL, OIL, OIL.

John Lawler, Sr., is still continuing his oil investigations on his ranch above town. He makes frequent trips from Petaluma to this point and has taken with him many specimens of surface oil sand and has been showing them to oil experts in Petaluma.

Mr. Lawler is very enthusiastic over his find and has good reason to believe he has oil in abundance on his place. In fact it is believed the indications are better here for oil than in the much talked of oil belt near Petaluma. Mr. Lawler has had ample opportunity to lease his property for oil prospecting, but knowing himself to be in possession of a good thing he is proceeding with caution.

It is rumored he will wait until the Ramona and Bonita properties have been more fully developed.

Downed by Electricity.

Sunday evening Edgar Stafford and Wm. Homes, two local line-men were erecting a platform in the transforming station in this city, when one of the wires they intended using in supporting the structure came in contact with a 60,000 volt wire, knocking the boys unconscious.

Friends immediately ran to their rescue and they were taken to Drs. Hays and Thomson offices where they were brought back to consciousness.

It is a miracle that they escaped with their lives, and had not a fuse blown out by the short circuit made through their bodies they would have been dead before succor could have arrived.

The boys were on duty Monday, sore but not seriously injured.

"The Oaks" Attached

Wednesday Constable Joe F. Ryan served papers of attachment on "The Oaks," owned by Mrs. Farrell, near Boyes Hot Springs, for the Northwestern Telephone and Telegraph company of this city to collect a bill of $42. The place is still closed awaiting further developments of the case.

The Tatler

For a on popular topics gleaned by an idler

A Baptism of fire in hades depths
As hot as boiling tar
Awaits the chap who avoids chance

To boost for Sonoma's sewer,
No, Gracie, married men do not live longer—it only seems longer.

No Harold, a blockhead isn't the only chap that celebrates his wooden wedding.

Dear Tatler:—Is there any cure for blackheads? No, blonds are just as bad.

Of course, Jack, if your breakfast wasn't fit for a hog to eat, you could not eat it.

Evidently Poppe did not like to Hoppe on the stage in Union Hall last Monday evening.

No, Billy, it didn't take me long to learn to set that new mouse-trap. I soon got my hand in.

Two young ladies of our town took a tramp to El Verano last Sunday morning—and returned without him.

If our constable would make some of our side walk loafers go to work he might be accused of murder,—the shock would kill them sure. Be careful, officer.

Recently I read a sign placed in a public place which informed the reader that "These chairs are for the ladies. Gentlemen are requested not to use them until the ladies are seated."

When we think what idiots we've made of ourselves, we gene rally can sole ourselves with the reflection that we must be remarkably shrewd to discover it.

On the train coming into town this morning I met a man who told me another man told him that his boy knew a boy whose father told him their nearest neighbor had related to the milkman that he had heard that the young man who sent in the matrimonial question Monday evening, has been captured at last. 'Rah for Cupid!

A telephone manager not many miles from Sonoma, was greatly interested the forepart of the week in the hypnotic demonstrations in our city. He wanted to go on the stage with the others but has the same old cry, "My wife won't let me." Well, she's wise—a man of so small a stature might shrink while under contr. I and were this to happen in his case, it would take a spyglass to find him.

A butcher wagon on the top of the drinking fountain greeted the sight of the early risers Sunday morning, causing the people to realize that Hallowe'en had arrived 24 hours ahead of schedule time. Benches had disappeared, signs changed positions and other mischief was done while Sonoma's police force slumbered. Oh, boys! you should be ashamed of yourselves to thus cause more trouble for our already overworked(?) marshal!

Judging from the implements of utility hanging on telegraph poles, the absence of gates, and numerous other struts in evidence we presume the youngsters(?) of our city enjoyed themselves immensely Hallowe'en. Some say a local jeweler carefully hid his wooden watch sign during the day and later joined the night prowlers, taking his sign from its hiding place and hanging it on the highest pinnacle for effect. This we know: Both he and a local taffy peddler were very late the next morning in opening their respective places of business. One says he was playing the baritone and the other claims he was practicing on the clarinet. Can't say, wasn't there a self—I went fishing that evening at Lake Tahoe.

El Camino Real Bell

Saturday last dawned bright and clear and the rising of the sun brought a day of history to Sonoma,—a day replete with memories of those distant days when California struggled in its infancy, beginning the conquest against the elements of the wilderness.

Yes, Saturday's events will be remembered by our children, our children's children and a long line of descendants as a matter of history, a gleam of the past, and will show them the patriotism of their ancestors and leave in their breasts a spark of pride and protection for our old historic landmarks.

Toward the hour set for the afternoon's festivities residents from the outlying districts and other cities began to arrive and many a gaily attired pedestrian trod the beaten path through our historic plaza to the Mission San Francisco de Solano de Sonoma and there beheld a raised platform upon which were seated persons of note and influence and prominent officers of the State Federation of Woman's clubs. Before them and a little to the right stood the El Camino Real Sign Post and Bell, Old Glory gracefully hiding it from view. Nestled against Schockens store on the opposite side of First Street West we beheld the Sonoma State Home band, which opened the program with selections of merit and perfect harmony. Ere the strains of the first melody had been wafted away over 500 persons had assembled to witness the unveiling, and all listened to the following excellent program:

Music—Sonoma State Home Band, Chorus, "Star Spangled Banner." Remarks by Mrs. Dora Stolen, president of the Sonoma Valley Woman's Club.

Reading of letter written by Mrs. Alice Hare, Dist. Chairman History and Landmarks, Mrs. Carrie A. Burlingame.

Song—"In dear old California's Sunny Dales," Mrs. Lulu V. Emparam.

"El Camino Real, It's Significance"—Mrs. Laura Bride Powers. Music by the Band.

Song and Unveiling—Mrs. Emparam and Mrs. Burlingame. Blessing by Father Valentine of St. Boniface Church San Francisco. Presentation Speech—Mrs. J. W. Orr, Vice-president of the California Federation of Woman's Clubs.

Acceptance—Mrs. Robert P. Hill. Song—America. Music by the band.

As we listened to the above, and looking beyond to the background of the old Missions we seemed able to trace each mark of history in our dear old Mission's crumbling walls and assisted by the eloquence of the orators we could see the pilgrim padres in their gowns and cowls, building this, the northern extremity of their tedious march; we could trace in each adobe brick a history that would fill volumes, replete with self sacrifice, trials and tribulations.

Throughout the day the Woman's Club kept open house at their parlors and entertained many guests of note. The officers of the Federation of Woman's Clubs were entertained at luncheon by the Chamber of Commerce at the Union Hotel, Mme. Host Koenig furnishing a most delightful and appetizing repast.

The whole affair was one grand success and our local Woman's Club are again to be complimented in obtaining for us this bell, which will add much to our prestige as the oldest town in this part of California.

High School Report

County Superintendent De Witt Montgomery paid us a visit Tuesday. We have been wearing our new High School pins for a couple of weeks. They are cute little affairs in the shape of a white and gold penant.

Woodchoppers are laying low some of our beautiful trees. We hate to see them go.

The Senior class have been introduced to a new form of composition—debating. Last Friday night the topic was: "Resolved, that terrorism in strikes is justifiable under present economic conditions." The boys took the affirmative and the girls the negative. The boys won, of course; they always do, even in basket ball.

Speaking of basket ball, that reminds me. Saturday, Nov. 5, the girls basket ball team will play a game with the Talmalpais and Mili Valley Union High School team at 1:30 p. m. in Union Hall. Come! Come! Admission, 25 cts.

Last, but not least—Jinks! Oh, it was fine! A large number attended and many in masque. A fine program was rendered. Song, "Stingy Kid," by Mariar Binks and Johnny Brown. (?) Dance, Chief Court Jester Amayllis and Court Fool Verbena Cymbaline. Song and Spanish dance, "Fair Tales," Miss Portola, Don Gaspar de Portola, Carmen Fernando and Felipe Gasparo. Fairy tales! Oh! You Spanish kid. Wedding of Mr. Lochinvar and Mrs. Lochinvar, by a crowd of Mrs. Lochinvar's loving relatives.

They had some peanuts, sandwiches and—but what the use of telling you all this. It would only make you hungry. We had a fine time and went home early, (?) and got up early—almost.

ANA NIAS

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. L. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. L. Cheney & Co., Toledo Ohio. Sold by all druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Fresh crabs, clams and oyster received daily at the California Oyster Market and Chop House on Broadway.

FACE TO FACE.

A New Problem For Women.

In the looking-glass a woman often sees wrinkles, hollow circles under the eyes, crow's feet—all because she did not turn to the right remedy when worn down with those troubles which are distinctly feminine. Backache, lassitude, nervousness and the pains and drains of womanhood bring such untold suffering that the face is sure to show it.

Every woman, young or old, is well protected from the above nervous backache, and the many symptoms of disease so prevalent among our women—if they will conscientiously take Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a safe and sure remedy for the ills of womanhood, because it contains not a particle of alcohol, digitalis or any deleterious drugs. Weak women are made strong and sick women are made well by this splendid prescription which was used by Doctor Pierce in his large private practice in the specialty of women's diseases. Every woman troubled in this way should write him about her case, care of Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he assumes them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions, in reality they are only symptoms caused by some womb disease. A physician ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause, would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and insinuating comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said that "a disease known is half cured." In cases almost innumerable, after all other medicines had failed to do so, doctors had said there was no cure possible, the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, supplemented, when necessary, by the medical advice and counsel of Dr. Pierce, has resulted in a perfect and permanent cure.

THE SECRET OUT.

To refute the many false and malicious attacks, bogus formulas and other untruthful statements published concerning Dr. Pierce's Family Medicine, the Doctor has decided to publish all the ingredients entering into them and place the same on the wrapper inclosing each bottle. This easy working formula for making these medicines cost Dr. Pierce and his collaborating Chemists and Pharmacists many years of study and experiments, but as perfected they produce almost perfect pharmaceutical compounds, embodying all the active medicinal principles residing in the ingredients employed, and preserving them perfectly for any length of time and in any climate without the use of a drop of alcohol.

These are the Original Little Women's Liver Pills, first put up over 40 years ago, by Dr. R. V. Pierce. They've been much imitated but never equalled. Smallest capsules to take and best. They're tiny, sugar-coated and contain a compound of refined and concentrated vegetable extracts. Without disturbance or trouble, constipation, indigestion, bilious attacks, sick and bilious headaches, and all derangements of the system, are removed, relieved, and cured. Permanently cured, too, by their mild and natural action, these little pills gently cleanse the system into healthy ways again. Their influence lasts.

An Organized Epidemic

It Cured, as Was Intended, Some Chronic Cases.

By MARTHA McCULLOCH-WILLIAMS.

Copyright, 1902, by Associated Literary Press.

Minerva's name was one of fate's subtlest ironies, the girl was so far—so very far—from wise. Indeed, she knew no more than to be sweet and biddable to crabbled task-mistresses. They were the Grimley sisters who had taken her, as they said daily, out of charity and to whom she served for hands, feet and eyes. She was rated sharply if she talked back, which was seldom, since she had rather a talent for silence than for speech.

The sisters were not consciously unkind. It was just that they had fallen into the way of fretting at everything. Life had defrauded them of the natural outlets—husbands and children. Therefore they made the most of such small worries as remained to maiden gentlemen.

Minerva came to them when she was ten. For the next eight years her appetite and her trick of breaking things, especially those she was handling with utmost care, had served as vital grievances. But since she was full grown she ate much less and hardly ever let fall anything, no matter how fragile or precious; hence the Miss Grimleys had had to invent a new sin for her. They had chosen to find it in her possible future husband. According to their notion, she was always intent upon matrimony and scheming to ensure whatever masculine person chance threw in her way.

The young circuit rider, for example; Jim Mate, the constable, who rode by the big gate every other day; the two Leonsards, who farmed the lower place; even the young fellow clerking over at the crossroads—hadn't he actually tried to get board at the Grimley mansion? Dr. Bell, the one person who dared speak up to the sisters, rated them soundly for such suspicions. No wonder, he said, poor Minerva, as shy and modest as any white rose, was awkward, almost rude, indeed, to all the young fellows she encountered and therefore likely to die an old maid.

Miss Jane and Miss Abby nodded approval there. Minerva was to have everything when they were gone. It would be quite enough to keep her like a lady. Husbands were but worries most of the time. As for children, they shook their heads and sighed. Clearly, in their judgment, a woman was lucky to escape such things. Look at Minerva herself! Where would she be now if the Grimleys had not chosen that better part?

Dr. Bell, who had a tongue as rough and a heart as warm as his greatcoat, growled at them. After awhile, being a strategist, he did something else—something which at first Minerva didn't mind. He said, "You're all right. When his wife asked the meaning of it he said enigmatically: 'Oh, I'm going to cure some chronic cases by provoking an epidemic.'"

And that was all she could get out of him, no matter how hard she tried. She could not try very hard, since, like the rest of the neighborhood, she was giving all her mind to the coming session of the synod.

It was to be a great occasion. Ministers, their wives, sons and daughters were coming by the score. Their number would not be too great, however, for the countryside's hospitality.

With no provocation whatever from the church Dr. Bell fixed it so the Grimleys would have rather more than a double share of the clerical influx—namely, Deacon Brown and his wife, Dr. Henshaw, a pulpit Sanson, just beginning to look about him over the edges of weeds not yet rusty; Professor Balderson, famed for persuading money into college channels, and young Lee, not yet come to full ordination. How the doctor managed all this is not known. He was almost unscrupulous when it came to carrying out a plan. At least two other households were full of bitter jealousy over the parceling out of guests, but the guests did not suspect it—least of all those fated to sit at meat with the Grimleys.

Miss Jane was a famous cook. Miss Abby was past mistress at preserving. Minerva made cake that was simply heavenly, and black Susan was a miracle of efficient strength in the kitchen. So the visitors rejoiced that their lines had fallen as they had. Indeed, all through synod week they could not say enough in praise and gratitude to their hostesses. As a consequence Miss Jane and Miss Abby forgot either to scold or to suspect. Careless of the tide of hospitable impulse, they showed for what they were—excellent gentlemen of the first rank.

As for Minerva, she fairly blossomed. Even the most callous onlooker saw in her a new creature. She was so radiant, indeed, that before three days were out Professor Balderson, a seasoned bachelor, managed up his mind to marry her if he could. He changed his mind after good Sister Brown had let fall words of wisdom.

"It's providential," she said, nodding toward Minerva and young Lee. "If ever anybody was sweet girl for a pastor's wife it's that sweet girl, and I'm mighty glad to believe both of them have found it out."

Slight observation brought the professor himself to the same belief. For half an hour he was right down crest-fallen; then he flung up his head and actually smiled. Possibly the sight of Miss Jane had nothing to do with it. But certainly that afternoon and all through the days following he kept pretty close to her. Miss Jane was in a state of mind. It was plain as a pike-staff that that man Henshaw was making up to Sister Abby—Abby, who had never before tolerated anybody's courting.

"He must have bewitched her. That's all the way I can account for it," she confided, almost weeping, to the professor upon Saturday afternoon.

"Something ought to be done about it. It's ridiculous at her time of life. I don't understand it a bit."

"No, but it may be the cooking. Dr. Henshaw's a good man, but not wholly above earth," the professor comforted wisely. "Besides, I can quite understand. A man's loneliness is something dreadful. He has just about had time to find out how much he misses his wife. In that he is worse off than I, who have been lonely so many years."

"Well, it was just because you chose to be," Miss Jane snapped, then could have bitten her tongue.

The professor positively beamed over her intonation. "I wonder if you can be in the right," he murmured. "Tonight, now, dear Miss Jane, if I found myself greatly attracted by a most superior woman of suitable age do you think I should have any chance?"

"You'll have to find out for yourself. One woman never knows about another," Miss Jane retorted, but with a blush that would have done credit to Minerva.

The professor took her hand. "But suppose it is not another?" he asked. "Suppose I dare raise my eyes to you?"

If Miss Jane had felt what was coming the sudden certainty of it over-whelmed her. For the first and last time she faltered outright, and most graciously notwithstanding her 150 pounds, upon the professor's shoulder. Minerva came running to them, exclaiming anxiously: "Fetch Dr. Bell! And keep Aunt Abby away!"

Afternoon service was just about to begin. In the stir and confusion of getting the crowd inside the church it was easy to miss Miss Jane's faint as something else.

"Oh, I—turned my ankle," she herself said, snuffing the salts Sister Brown held under her nostrils. "Then we must take you straight home," the professor said as one in authority, looking into her eyes while he nodded toward Minerva and her sweetheart.

Miss Jane began to say faintly, "Abby—where is she?" But Sister Brown checked her with a significant smile.

"Don't you worry about Miss Abby," she said. "Just let them put you in the barouche and go along. Dr. Henshaw'll see to it your sister gets home all right."

Then Dr. Bell exploded. When he could speak for nothing but wrath, wringing Miss Jane's hand heartily and beaming on the professor: "It has worked splendidly, get home, all of you. I'll tell Abby everything and make her likewise tell me." "What has worked?" Miss Jane demanded, suddenly forgetting her turned ankle and stamping her foot. The doctor looked at her and said, "You've got to go home with me, Minerva, then on to the professor and young Lee, where his eyes wandered to Miss Abby and her prize, just now coming up to them."

"My organized epidemic," he said, with another great laugh, "of matrimony, to be sure. It hurt my feelings to see three fine girls going to waste." For once Miss Jane had no word ready. The professor was likewise silent. But young Lee spoke up manfully: "You were exactly right, doctor, and no man could have done a better deed." "So I can say 'Bless you, my children' all round?" the doctor queried. Young Lee's eyes twinkled. "Sure thing," he said. "You see, Dr. Henshaw begged me to fix him up with Minerva so Miss Abby would have no excuse to make him wait."

"She didn't think of me, I suppose," Miss Jane said, sighing. The others smiled. Sister Brown spoke for all of them. "No, she didn't forget you," she said. "But all of us have seen how it would be these last three days."

A Hair's Breadth Escape.

Do you know that every time you have a cough or cold and let it run on thinking it will just cure itself you are inviting pneumonia, consumption or some other pulmonary trouble? Don't risk it. Put your lungs back in perfect health and stop that cough with Ballard's Horehound Syrup. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by L. S. Simmons.

Witches in Eggshells.

When Napoleon III. was approaching sovereignty he asked a judicious friend to observe him carefully for a week and to point out to him anything that he did which was not according to the covered code of the manner of a well-bred man. At the end of the week there was only one practice which his friend had noticed. The emperor after eating a boiled egg invariably thrust his spoon through it. Whence this practice has arisen, at one time not uncommon, it is difficult to say. Some date it from a very early period and assume that it was done originally in order to prevent witches sailing in the eggshells.

Importance of Hobbies.

For one of every mind it is normally necessary that every man should have some pursuit which shall be unconnected with his business, which he must pursue with absolute seriousness. The hobby may be a game, it may be a collection of some sort (even stamps) or it may be some artistic achievement and whether a man seriously pursues it, provided he pursues it with the fixed idea that nothing else in the world matters.—London Queen.

A Peculiar Wrench.

Of the foot or ankle may produce a serious sprain. A sprain is more painful than a break. In all sprains, cut, burns and scalds Ballard's Snow Liniment is the best thing to use. Relieves the pain instantly, reduces swelling, is a perfect antiseptic and heals rapidly. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by L. S. Simmons.

As Exemplified.

Having given his order twenty minutes before and seeing no indication that his dinner was ready, the man with the sparse whiskers beckoned to a waiter.

"My friend," he said, "perhaps I have made a mistake. Is this a pay as you enter restaurant?"

"No, sir," responded the young man in the white apron, yawning. "This is a dinner cooked while you wait restaurant."

Thereupon he resumed his dreamy, contemplative attitude, and the man with the sparse whiskers waited some more.—Chicago Tribune.

A Broken Back.

That pain in your back caused by lumbago, stiff muscles or a strain is an easy thing to get rid of. Ballard's Snow Liniment cures rheumatism, lumbago, sore and stiff muscles, strains, sprains, cuts, burns, bruises, scalds and all aches and pains. You need a bottle in your house. Sold by L. S. Simmons.

Tree Snakes of Corneo.

The flying frogs of the Malaya appear to be my friend, but the tree snakes of Corneo are credited with taking flying leaps from the boughs of trees to the ground. It is found that snakes on the lower part of the body may be drawn inward so that the whole lower surface becomes concave. The resistance to the air is thus greatly increased and experiments indicate that the snakes do not fall in writhing coils, but are let down gently in a direct line by the parachute-like action of their peculiar bodies.

Many school children suffer from constipation, which is often the cause of seeming stupidity at lessons.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are an ideal medicine to give a child, for they are mild and gentle in their effect, and will cure even chronic constipation. Sold by all dealers.

A Raisher of Pickles.

"Anything to do for you, madam?" asked the clerk in the seed store. "Yes," answered the sweet thing, tapping the counter with a tapering finger. "I wish to ascertain if bottled pickle seeds will grow as well as those of the bulk variety?"—Indianapolis Sun.

Consumption Statistics.

prove that a neglected cold or cough put the lungs in so bad a condition that consumption germinated a fertile field for fastening on one. Stop the cough just as soon as it appears with Ballard's Horehound Syrup. Soothes the torn and inflamed tissues and makes you well again. Sold by L. S. Simmons.

A Lateral Deduction.

Bright Day—I'm a chip of the old block, ain't I, pa? Fond Parent—Yes, my son. Bright Boy—Ain't you're the head of the family, ain't you, pa? Fond Parent—Yes, my son. Bright Boy—Then you're a blockhead, ain't you, pa?—Pittsburg Press.

Croup is most prevalent during the dry cold weather of the early winter months. Parents of young children should be prepared for it. All that is needed is a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Many mothers are never without it in their homes and it never disappoints them. Sold by all dealers.

A Reply to Glaciers.

"Glaciers have no great scientific knowledge," said an English writer, "and at a dinner, when Faraday described an important new scientific discovery, the premier showed indifference."

"After all," he said, hiding a yawn behind his hand, "what use will it ever be?" "Why," said Faraday, "there's every probability, sir, that some day you'll be able to tax it."

When a cold becomes settled in the system, it will take several days' treatment to cure it, and the best remedy to use is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

It will cure quicker than any other, and also leaves the system in a normal and healthy condition. It is sold by all dealers.

Lingering Superstitions.

"Will a lucky gentleman give an unlucky one a tiny mascot to bring luck?" runs an advertisement in an English paper. Here was a poor soul—for if there is a creature on the face of the earth whose fate calls for pity it is a gentleman whose is down-keeping in her poverty some of that superstition or faith, whatever it may be called, which is the only thing that keeps misfortune from crushing the sufferer. If only she could get the right charm she might induce fate to look kindly on her! People call this a practical age, but evidences of superstition continue to appear. A lawsuit not long ago revealed the fact that an astrologer kept a notebook and had a fine house etc., all of which came out of the proceeds of a zodiacal magazine.

Lame back comes on suddenly and is extremely painful. It is caused by rheumatism of the muscles. Quick relief is afforded by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Sold by all dealers.
